Why should I Soil & Seed My Lawn

Soil and seeding benefits the lawn as it builds up the quality of the soil over a period of time, - sandy soils will be able to retain moisture better and so the lawn will be more resistant to drought, clay soils will drain better thus improving root development.

This will fill in bare spots on your lawn and make it lush and thick.

Another benefit of Soil and Seeding the lawn is that it will help to even out any lumps and bumps that are present on an uneven lawn, filling in any small hollows that may develop.

Soil and seeding also stimulates the grass to produce new shoots and so results in denser grass cover which helps combat the onset of weed and moss infestation.

Make your flower beds look brand new!

Premium decorative shredded mulch will restore that new look to your flower beds.

Fresh mulch installed annually, and freshened semi-annually if desired, will give your lawn a clean, manicured appearance.

A thick two to four inch layer of mulch will help improve the retention of the soil moisture. This will protect your shrubs during the heat and root during the winter freeze. While not a perfect solution to eliminate flower-bed weeds, mulch will help prevent weeds

Aeration Will Improve The Health and Beauty Of Your Lawn

Annual aeration loosens up compacted soil allowing more nutrients and oxygen to reach the root system of the lawn. It helps prevent fertilizer and water run-off from overly compacted areas.

This improves the health and appearance of the lawn.

A healthy lawn has a better chance of fighting off disease, withstanding drought and insect infestation.

Combined with a fertilization program, aeration will improve the growth, thickness, health and colour of your lawn.
